

Ping An Voyager Fund invests in AI health tech firm

14 January 2019 | News

This investment aims to boost application of AI healthtech and bring the benefits of quality healthcare services to all.

Ping An Insurance (Group) Company of China, Ltd. has announced that the Ping An Global Voyager Fund, has invested in AI medical solution company Airdoc in its B+ round of funding (Ping An has led the round along with CITIC). This investment aims to boost application of AI healthtech and bring the benefits of quality healthcare services to all.

Airdoc is a high-tech company dedicated to improving the efficiency of medical services through artificial intelligence. It develops deep learning techniques based on massive data labeled by medical experts and provides intelligent services to assist doctors and benefit patients.

The Ping An Global Voyager Fund, Ping An's $1billion global corporate venture capital fund, was launched in May 2017 with a mandate to invest in fintech and healthtech businesses to accelerate Ping An's technology transformation.