Arizona Israel technology alliance helps establish IMNA Solutions' Presence in Arizona and strengthen its Business ties in the State

To further enhance its ability to provide value to Arizona's leading healthcare providers and pharmaceutical companies, IMNA Solutions today announced it has established its U.S. headquarters in Scottsdale. Founded in Israel in 2014 by intelligence-sector veteran Israel Haikin and Meirav Naor Weinstock, business development and research expert, IMNA Solutions is a healthcare software company at the forefront of innovation. The company's patented IMNA ListenCare™ platform uses predictive analytics and artificial intelligence to turn unstructured data into real-time actionable insights.

With a previously established office in Rockville, Maryland, IMNA Solutions is now expanding its global presence through a strategic partnership with the Arizona Israel Technology Alliance (AITA). AITA is a nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting and strengthening business, investment, entrepreneurship, technology and trade relations between the technology communities of Arizona and Israel.

Led by President & CEO, Leib Bolel, AITA supports business and bilateral trade through B2B initiatives and investment. IMNA's headquarters in Scottsdale represents an essential milestone of state-to-state cooperation, which ultimately signifies the strong connection between the state of Israel and the state of Arizona.
