

Equidius launches healthcare, wellness subscription program

31 July 2019 | News

Building a network of ethical medical and dental services to service those not covered by their employers or companies at 50% below market rates.

Equidius Services, established in 2017 by a consortium of healthcare and insurance experts, has announced the launch of EQ Benefits and Rewards - its inaugural healthcare & wellness subscription program in Singapore.

This program addresses the issues recognised by the Singapore Health Ministry in making affordable healthcare to everyone in Singapore and provides a solution to bridge the gap where employees' healthcare is not covered by their employers for various reasons. It also includes a rewards component to encourage its members to stay healthy.

Equidius has developed a unique portable healthcare subscription program, EQ Benefits & Rewards, which enables its members to enjoy special rates when visiting its medical, dental and wellness partners in Singapore and Malaysia.

- Residents in Singapore can enjoy lower healthcare costs and be empowered to take ownership in managing their own health. EQ Benefits offers a variety of programmes to cater to diverse needs. All Members only pay S$13 for a medical consultation and $15 for dental consultation, or they can subscribe to a programme that includes complimentary health screening or dental cleaning, which many people have neglected due to the cost.
- Address Singapore employers' growing need to provide for healthcare benefits for young and aging workers within their organisations and to ensure that their employees' medical and dental needs are met. This will help employers and HR Managers in their employee retention strategy.