BioSpectrum the business of Bio & Health Sciences ASIA EDITION

Ranbaxy CEO wins leadership award, firm enters elite list

July 2, 2013 | News | By BioSpectrum Bureau

Singapore:Ã?Â Ranbaxy received a rare distinction at the fourth Indian Affairs Business Leadership Awards 2013. The company's CEO, Mr Arun Sawhney, was declared the CEO of the year. With this award, the company entered the elite list of power brand in healthcare.

The open voting for the event was held across 60 days in 17 states and three countries by Indian Affairs juries and independent experts. While Chericof cough syrup received the emerging brand of the year award, Volini and Revital were crowned the brands of the decade.

Receiving the award on behalf of the CEO, Mr Brijesh Kapil, VP, Ranbaxy Global Consumer Healthcare (RGCH), said that, "Mr Sawhney is an industry veteran, with over three decades of international experience in the chemical and pharmaceutical arena. Mr Sawhney has been instrumental in the success story of Ranbaxy."