The partnership will focus on opportunities with the APAC and EMEA regions under the banner of Care Everywhere

Verizon Business and Visionable, a leading health technology company based in the UK, have joined forces to empower the next generation of healthcare.

The strategic partnership will bring together Verizon's extensive secure network infrastructure and Visionable's unique, patented, next-generation digital healthcare collaboration platform, to form a single secure infrastructure that helps enable healthcare professionals to access data, collaborate and share resources. The partnership will focus on opportunities with the APAC and EMEA regions under the banner of Care Everywhere.

In addition, the two companies will launch a specialised technology-led Connected Healthcare Center, based in the UK to be opened in 2022. The centre will enable the co-creation of technology concepts as well as showcase new technologies, such as Verizon's private 5G, and will demonstrate the benefits of digital technologies within various healthcare environments from control centres, hospital wards, general practices (GPs) consultation rooms, care homes and connected ambulances.
