An influential, collaborative and motivational leader with excellent communication skills

US-based pharmaceutical firm Moderna has announced the appointment of Joyce Lee as the General Manager of Taiwan and Cluster Lead. As the company expands its footprint and scale operations within the Asia Pacific region, the company has onboarded Joyce to lead operations in Taiwan, driving progress to propel the promise of mRNA technology across infectious diseases, immuno-oncology, rare diseases, cardiovascular diseases, and autoimmune diseases.

Joyce was previously working at Amgen as the General Manager- Taiwan. She served in that position for 4 years. Before that, Joyce was working at Bristol-Myers Squibb in different roles across geographies such as Taiwan, Singapore and the US.

Joyce has also worked at Novartis, P&G, Pfizer and Merck during the early days of her career. She is an innovative biopharmaceutical leader with strong track record of managing specialty care and general medicines.
