The funding will be used to double down on the centralised software platform

Singaporean telehealth platform ORA has raised a $10 million Series A funding. This is the largest telehealth Series A in South-East Asia and was co-led by TNB Aura and Antler with participation from Gobi Partners, Kairous Capital and GMA Ventures, bringing total funding to date above $17 million.

ORA is the fastest-growing and biggest vertically-integrated telehealth platform in South East Asia delivering over 250,000 consultations and has experienced uninterrupted monthly growth since its 2021 launch.

ORA has launched three brands that serve the modern patient living with chronic conditions, making treatment more accessible, convenient and personal. Modules is a first to market online dermatology experience making personalised, prescription skincare accessible with 676 different formulations, and Sons offers male health solutions and OVA delivers female reproductive healthcare.

With this new round of funding ORA will seek to expand its presence into new territories, both geographically and with new offerings. Later this year ORA's brands will arrive in retail across 1300 tier one stores bringing its accessible, medically-backed range of products to shelves. Looking at different geographies there are opportunities to expand into regions like the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC)-Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, and the United Arab Emirates.
