BioSpectrum
the business of Bio & Health Sciences
ASIA EDITION

GE HealthCare and FPT to drive AI-powered healthcare innovation in Vietnam

April 2, 2025 | News

FPT will become a channel partner for GE HealthCare

Global IT firm FPT and GE HealthCare have announced a Strategic Cooperation Agreement, expanding their commercial alliance to advance product strategy and development, and establish an FPT Competency Centre in Vietnam.

This deepening collaboration reflects a strategic shift from project-based engagement to a long-term alliance aimed at accelerating the adoption of artificial intelligence (AI)-driven solutions, enhancing operational efficiency, and improving patient care.

As part of the commercial alliance, FPT will become a channel partner for GE HealthCare, jointly promoting and delivering GE HealthCare's digital solutions in Vietnam and throughout its country network. FPT also plans on collaborating with GE HealthCare's Science & Technology Office and affiliates to co-develop new and further develop GE HealthCare's existing and new digital healthcare products.

A key highlight of the partnership is the establishment of an FPT Competency Centre in Vietnam. This centre will provide dedicated resources to support product strategy, innovation, portfolio planning, development, and customer onboarding. It will also play a critical role in change management, support services and annual maintenance, ensuring seamless integration and operation in GE HealthCare's digital ecosystem.