ICPI WEEK 2025, a comprehensive event bringing together component and materials companies across pharmaceuticals, biotech, cosmetics, laboratory science, chemical equipment, packaging, and logistics, was held from April 22 to April 25 at Exhibition Halls 1 and 2 of KINTEX, Goyang, South Korea.

BioSpectrum Asia was invited to cover ICPI Week 2025 as the official media partner, and we selected the top three exhibitors of the biotech & pharma industry, as part of the Global Media Award.

The top three exhibitors included-

Huco Hankook Lab Solutions is developing innovative technology in-built fume hoods (equipped with touch screen, mobile app and other control features) addressing laboratory challenges such as fire safety; and also developing novel reagent cabinets and refrigerators for the scientific labs.

Connietec, a relatively new company in the market, is developing innovative filters and safety cap, for the safety of lab scientists while working on processes such as chromatography using solvents that tend to evaporate quickly forming chemical fumes or vapours.

Goojung EnT, working both as a manufacturer and a distributor, is building a novel solvent evaporator and gas generator combination offering convenience and accessibility to the researchers and scientists.

These three exhibitors were selected among many companies that participated in the Korea Pharm & Bio exhibition showcasing production and packaging machinery, packaging materials, automation solutions, and quality control technologies.

ICPI Week 2025 consisted of eight specialised exhibitions: Korea Pharm & Bio, CI Korea, Korea Lab, Korea Chem, Cophex, ESG Pack, Korea Mat, and Korea Coldchain.
