BioSpectrum
the business of Bio & Health Sciences
ASIA EDITION

MakeO announces acquisition of Zenyum to build Asia's largest consumer dental tech platform

February 11, 2026 | News

A milestone for the Indian dental tech industry

MakeO (parent company of the leading Indian clear aligner brand, Toothsi) has entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Zenyum, Southeast Asia’s leading consumer dental company, headquartered in Singapore.

The transaction positions Toothsi as a pan-Asian leader in clear aligner technology, orthodontics and consumer oral-care products, with India as the strategic and manufacturing hub for the combined business. This landmark union will create Asia's leading consumer dental company, poised to revolutionise access to high-quality, affordable dental care across the region.

Toothsi with its vertically integrated US FDA-certified clear aligner platform, will now design, manufacture, and export aligner products for the business across Asia. The combined company will serve customers in India and key Asian markets including Taiwan, Hong Kong, Japan, Singapore, Malaysia, Vietnam, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, and the UAE.

Leveraging its proven clinical expertise and strong product ecosystem, MakeO is exploring selective M&A opportunities and partnerships within strong local dental chains and clinical practices to unlock scale, enhance distribution, and reinforce its presence across high-potential markets including India, Singapore, Taiwan, and Hong Kong.

Consumers will benefit from Toothsi’s US FDA-certified aligner technology capabilities, patented suite of aligner appliances treating the entire complexity spectrum of malocclusions and all age groups, alongside Zenyum’s award-winning oral-care devices and product portfolio.