

Inventys Research plant gets ISO 9001:2008 certification

08 June 2012 | News | By BioSpectrum Bureau

Inventys Research plant gets ISO 9001:2008 certification

Mumbai: India-based Inventys Research has received ISO 9001:2008 management system accreditation from the Indian Registrar of Quality Systems (IRQS).

The certification of compliance recognizes that the policies, practices, and procedures of the company's specialty chemical plant ensure consistent quality in the products and services provided to customers. The certification applies to the management system for the manufacturing of specialty chemicals and related services.

"The achievement of ISO: 9001:2008 certifications reflect Inventys's commitment to achieve superior consistent product quality and reliability for our customers, using self-designed and built GMP plants to manufacture specialty chemicals, intermediates and APIs."