Napier expands in Middle East

Singapore: Napier Healthcare, a healthcare technology and services provider, has expanded to Middle East by opening a centre in Riyadh.

Napier has appointed Mohammad Shublaq as director of business development for the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia to lead the team in areas of business development, sales, alliance and customer relations.

"The new office underscores Napier's investment and commitment to the growing Saudi healthcare market and the neighbouring untapped markets in the Middle East. We are now well placed to provide the value that hospitals are looking for- the powerful combination of local expertise and insights, with Napier's world class solutions, domain knowledge and best practices gained from international implementations in the United States, Asia and Africa," said Mr Tirupathi Karthik, CEO, Napier Healthcare.

"Today, healthcare providers can turn to Napier Healthcare for innovative Hospital Information Technology (HIT) solutions tested and proven around the world including those that meet USA's stringent Meaningful Use requirements. We are committed to enable care providers in the Middle East rise above the competition, improve profitability whilst delivering quality care to patients by tapping on Napier's deep domain expertise and complete suite of HIT solutions that addresses the end-to-end needs for a hospital," he mentioned.
