Marken opens new Shanghai office

â€ŽSingapore: Marken, a global clinical supply chain solutions provider, has expanded its presence in Shanghai to provide pharmaceutical logistics solution in China.

The facility will provide regional distribution and supply chain logistics services for pharmaceutical products and medical devices for the clinical trials industry. Located close to both the Hongqiao and Pudong airports, the new office within the Zhangjiang high tech district is also in close proximity to Marken's existing pharma clients.

Marken would be providing temperature controlled services for ground transportation of time and temperature sensitive shipments.
