Baylor Miraca Genetics appoints Gary Huff as President, CEO

Baylor Miraca Genetics Laboratories LLC (BMGL), a joint venture company between Japan-based Miraca Holdings and Baylor College of Medicine, announced that Gary Huff will join the company as President and Chief Executive Officer.

Mr. Huff is said to be a clinical laboratory industry veteran with a proven track record of accelerating business growth and strategically aligning organizations to achieve outstanding results.

Prior to joining BMGL, he was the Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Solstas Lab Partners; the largest private full-service clinical testing laboratory serving the southeast, owned by the New York-based private equity firm of Welsh, Carson, Anderson and Stowe.

Before leading Solstas, he was a senior executive for Laboratory Corporation of America. During his tenure, he held various leadership positions to include: North Atlantic Division Senior Vice President, National Toxicology Senior Vice President, Vice President of National Sales and Marketing Operations and Executive Director of Business Development.

Mr. Huff holds a Master's in Organizational Management, Six Sigma Lean Black Belt Certification, and he is a graduate of Indiana University with a Bachelor of Arts in General Studies/Psychology. He is also a graduate of the Executive Development Program at Elon University - Martha and Spencer Love School of Business.
