

David Herron appointed as new CEO of Bioclinica

05 December 2017 | News

Dr. John Hubbard, current CEO, assumes non-Executive Board of Directors role

Provider of specialty clinical trial services, Bioclinica has appointed David Herron as the company's next Chief Executive Officer, effective January 2, 2018.

This follows the planned retirement of current Chief Executive Officer, John Hubbard who will remain as a non-Executive Director on the Bioclinica Board.

Bioclinica is a global life sciences solution provider that utilizes science and technology to bring clarity to clinical trials – helping companies to develop new life-improving therapies more efficiently and safely

With more than 10 years' of experience at Bioclinica, David Herron has led the company's Medical Imaging business to great success. During his tenure, he integrated three of the industry's leading medical imaging companies (Bioclinica, Corelab Partners, and Synarc) into one comprehensive service provider. Focusing on both operational excellence and process efficiency, Herron has grown the business into the world's largest independent supplier of medical imaging services for clinical trials.

Recently Herron assumed the additional responsibility of leading Bioclinica's technology-focused eHealth segment, immediately creating new synergies that leverage Bioclinica's multi-faceted capabilities.

With appointment to CEO, his oversight will extend to Bioclinica's network of investigator sites and patient recruitment businesses for a unified clinical trial service offering unmatched in the industry.

Herron has more than 25 years' experience in healthcare technology, medical services and consulting, having worked at Ernst & Young, Caremark/CVS, HealthNet, and Webify Solutions/IBM.

Dr. John Hubbard, current Chief Executive Officer of Bioclinica said, "It has been a privilege to serve as Chief Executive of Bioclinica for the past three years, however, now is the right time for me to take on a new role and welcome David to the Board. This key transition has been core in our succession planning process. I've seen David successfully assume greater responsibility in the organization where he's been integral in Bioclinica's transformation over the last four years. I have every confidence in his ability to lead Bioclinica in the next phase of growth."

Herron commented, "I would like to thank John for his significant contribution as Chief Executive of Bioclinica for the last three years and I look forward to continue working with him in his new capacity as non-Executive Director. I am excited by the prospect of continuing to build and enhance Bioclinica's technology and service offering and working to help our clients improve clinical trial outcomes in the years ahead."