

Going forward, both companies will continue to explore the establishment of a SaMD distribution platform for the relevant organisations and companies, alongside their SaMD development support. Through this, they aim to build an ecosystem that provides one-stop support from SaMD development to distribution, thereby contributing to the improvement of people's well-being.